Co-Op Options to Buy Woolcott Mill

Drive to Sell Stock to Saline County Farmers

Co-Operative Has Option to Buy for $65,000

Members of the Saline County Farmers Co-operative, Inc., today are in a quick drive to sell stock in the corporation to Saline county farmers in an effort to get in operation at the Woolcott mill before this year's wheat harvest.

The co-operative, chartered as a non-profit association under the Agricultural Co-operative Act of Illinois, has an option to buy the mill.

"If there is a fairly good chance to sell enough stock to raise the needed money, plans are to go ahead and buy it," Don Scott, attorney for the group, told a group at the start of a meeting last night.

The price of the mill to the co-operative is $65,000, but only $20,000 is needed immediately, incorporators stated. George R. Myers, one of the incorporators and a member of the board of directors, was named chairman of a finance committee to go among the farmers selling stock. A goodly sum toward the $20,000 already had been collected last night.

Among the original incorporators are business men as well as farmers, although the majority of the business men own farms, but right now the committee is going out to sell stock to farmers, being assured that business men will buy stock to bring the co-operative to this city.

Muriel Holland, elected the group's first president last night at a meeting held at the Woolcott mill, told the farmers present:

"Farmers can buy shares in this co-operative and own and control it. It will aid both you and the community. The thing to do is subscribe for enough stock to put it in operation, then put in a manager who knows his business to run it. Shares are $25 each and no person can own more than $10,000 in the co-operative."

Pointing to the benefits, he said there were facilities to store 150,000 bushels of wheat at the mill. "If we're going to do it, we've got to hurry," he said. The co-operative has a 30-day option with the Woolcott family to buy for the $65,000 price.

Another meeting was set for 7:30 p. m. Friday at the mill, to which all farmers of the county are invited.

The incorporators, or charter members of the group, are Howard James, Willie Robinson, Harker Milley, Paul T. Endicott, Robert W. Ozment, George R. Myers, John C. Small, John Endsley, Victor Humm, L. W. Smith, Paul Hilliard, A. L. Smith.

The board of directors is composed of John Endsley, George R. Myers, Paul T. Endicott, A. L. Smith and Muriel Holland.

Joseph M. Hart was elected secretary last night.

The state charter for the co-operative reveals that it was formed to engage in agricultural co-operative activity for the mutual benefit of its members or patrons in connection with the production, marketing or selling of agricultural products.

To purchase, handle, store, warehouse, deal or trade in, market and sell all grains, soybeans and other agricultural products;

To buy, manufacture, store, handle, deal in and distribute feeds, grains, seeds, inoculants and cultures, and fertilizers;

To mill, manufacture, process, store, prepare and mix soybeans and soybean products.

Fire Destroys Bryant Store in Wilmoth Addition

The Ben Bryant store in Wilmoth Addition and all its contents were destroyed by fire early today.

The fire was of undetermined origin. Fire Chief Ray Johnson said the fire department got the call at 12:15 a. m. and both trucks were dispatched because there are no fire plugs in the area, outside the city limits. Each truck poured two blaster tanks full of water into the blaze and a nearby well was pumped dry. The fire department remained on the scene for two hours.

Johnson said the frame grocery store building and all its contents were a total loss. There also was paint damage to one side of Bryant's house nearby.

HONORS CHURCHILL — Britain's Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill wears plumed hat and other traditional ceremonial garb as he proceeds to St. George's Chapel to receive the Order of the Garter, awarded him by Queen Elizabeth. The highest honor that a British monarch can bestow, the order has been offered to Churchill before, but he declined it. Observers say his acceptance of it at this time may be a dramatic prelude to his retirement from office. (NEA Telephoto)

Revise Defense Budget to Include Building Two More Atomic Submarines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense budget has been revised to include construction of two more nuclear-powered submarines in the coming fiscal year. Two already are building.

Chairman Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee made the disclosure today as the Senate opened debate on the $28,861,594,485 defense appropriations bill.

The original naval ship building program for fiscal 1955 called for the construction of one more atomic submarine and two conventional submarines.

Bridges said, however, that because of the "tremendous development" represented by atomic-powered submarines, the Navy has decided to start construction of two atomic submarines in the coming fiscal year.

The revised program will give the Navy a squadron of four

Posts Endorse Gwaltney for Legion Adjutant

Southern Illinois posts of the American Legion are pushing James S. Gwaltney of Harrisburg for the office of department adjutant, top salaried position in the Illinois department of the Legion, whenever a vacancy occurs.

Gwaltney now is organization officer for the state department of the Legion, having held this post for the past seven and one-half years.

The move was started by Carmi post No. 224 on Jan. 7, 1953, and was adopted Feb. 19 of the same year by the White County Council, the American Legion, in regular session. Then on June 6 of this year this resolution was adopted by the 24th District convention. All adoptions were by unanimous vote.

The resolution is scheduled to be brought up at the Fifth Division meeting July 18.

The resolution points out that Gwaltney, a member of George Hart post here, is fully qualified to meet the outstanding requirements of the office of department adjutant, that since his discharge from World War II he has served the Legion and its programs unflinchingly, that in his capacity as department organization officer he has fully demonstrated his ability to perform all duties delegated to him in furtherance of the program of the Legion.

It resolves that the Legion groups endorse him for the office of department adjutant of the American Legion, at any time in the future when a vacancy shall exist in the office.

Three Herrin Miners Killed When Cage Tips

STIRITZ, Ill. (AP)—Three miners were killed and one critically injured about midnight Tuesday when a cage they were riding up out of a mine shaft tipped and they plunged 50 feet to the bottom of the shaft.

Killed in the accident at Freeburn mine near here in Williamson county were Joe Lombardo, 51; John Bione, 48; and Ebert Mann, 58, all of Herrin. Clarence Cravens, 52, was in critical condition at a Herrin hospital.

Mine Supt. Roland Wilson said it was "the most freakish accident I have ever seen." Wilson said a balancing weight on the cage caught on part of the framework which guided the cage.

Three other miners managed to hang on to chains and saved themselves from a drop to the bottom of the 240-foot shaft.

The seven men were making the first trip up on the cage at the end of a work shift. Forty-eight other miners waited below when the accident happened.

Guy DeNeal Wins County 'Save Soil' Contest

Guy DeNeal, Rudement farmer, has been chosen by judges as the 1954 winner of the Saline county "Save Your Soil" contest, it was announced today by Thomas Morgan, Saline county soil conservationist.

DeNeal, who operates a 500-acre farm in Mountaintop township, is now eligible to compete in the Shawnee Council contest along with winners from 16 other counties in this area. The winners of the 15 councils of the state then will compete for the state championship.

The Saline county winner will receive a plaque given by the governor. Council winners will receive deep freezes contributed by the Sears-Roebuck Co. and the state championship will be given a $1,000 government bond at the Illinois state fair.

The contest is sponsored by the Illinois state department of agriculture, with every county in the state selecting the man who is judged to have done the outstanding job in soil conservation in the particular county. This is the third year the contest has been in progress with Ewell Harris winning the first year and J. C. Byrd winning in 1953.

DeNeal, it was explained, has followed a good land-use program. He has done contouring work, has put in toe walls and grass waterways, has put in improved pasture mixtures on some old land he bought, clearing off brush, filling in gulleys and applying fertilizers, has provided ample stock water with nearly a score of ponds on his farm, has established a number of wildlife areas in rough parts of his holdings and planted a lot of pine trees.

Mr. DeNeal has also erected four and a half miles of woven wire fencing on his land and one mile of new barbed wire fence. This is in addition to approximately three miles of other fencing.

Another practice Mr. DeNeal has followed is to erect concrete curbs or steel barrels over wells on his land, as a safety precaution for livestock and children. Wells which were no good were closed up. He urges this practice be followed by all farmers as open wells on farm land are an unnecessary risk.

LABOR: The House Government Operations Committee reversed itself and voted, 24-0, to give its chairman, Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.), control over a subcommittee investigation of alleged labor union racketeering. The committee voted last week to set up a new subcommittee for the inquiry headed by Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio). Hoffman said Bender still will be subcommittee chairman. But Hoffman made it clear he (Hoffman) will be in charge. Bender told a reporter he is agreeable to Hoffman "calling the shots."

FARM: Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee declined to pre-empt what action the group will take on President Eisenhower's recommendation for flexible farm price supports.

McCarthy Signed Schine Request, Welch Reveals

Army Counsel Produces Original Of Application

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said today he signed as a witness the loyalty oath which G. David Schine filed with his unsuccessful applications for an Army commission.

But McCarthy said he did not sign Schine's application. He said Army special counsel Joseph N. Welch left an erroneous impression at the Army-McCarthy hearings earlier by suggesting that he had signed the application itself.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army special counsel Joseph N. Welch brought out today that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy signed G. David Schine's application for an Army commission last year although McCarthy had sworn earlier he knew nothing about it.

Welch dramatically produced the original and a photostatic copy of Schine's unsuccessful application last year. McCarthy's name was signed to it.

"It happens to be inaccurate when you say you didn't know anything about it," Welch said, reminding McCarthy of his earlier testimony under oath.

McCarthy grinned as he thumb-stamped the pages of the photostatic copy and identified his signature.

"No, you merely signed it," Welch said. The audience howled with laughter.

Schine, the unpaid chief consultant to McCarthy's investigating subcommittee, was drafted last November 3. He is the central figure in the Army-McCarthy hearings, now in their 35th—and possibly final—day.

The Army accused McCarthy and two aides, Francis P. Carr and

Four Local Youths To Attend Boys' State at Springfield

Four Harrisburg youths will attend the Boys' State at Springfield starting Sunday, June 20, and ending June 27.

These boys are sponsored by four organizations of the city. They are:

Charles Polk, sponsored by George Hart post of The American Legion; Carroll Clark, sponsored by the Beasley-Murray post of Veterans of Foreign Wars; Donald L. Reed, sponsored by the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce; and Fred Kinnaman, sponsored by the Harrisburg Rotary club.

Boys' State is a mythical forty-ninth state organized and administered for citizenship training purposes under the auspices of the Department of Illinois, The American Legion. An annual session, eight days in length, it is held with the seat of government in the Youth building at the state fairgrounds at Springfield.

Originated by the Department of Illinois in 1934, the plan was adopted by the national organization in 1935.

Miss Bess Pemberton Is Honored Guest at Meeting of Kiwanis Club

Miss Bess Pemberton, who retired from the Harrisburg Township high school faculty this year after 35 years of teaching and heading the English department of the school, was an honored guest of the Kiwanis club last night at a meeting held at the Masonic temple.

Miss Pemberton, who has been in the teaching profession for 53 years, reminisced of her experiences to members of the club, many of whom had been her students.

"She stated she doesn't envy the young because they do not have the experiences which are a joy to remember."

"They do not remember the log cabins, riding the country roads in wagons or now long a trip it was from Galatia to Harrisburg," Miss Pemberton said.

"They do not know how to appreciate the present automobiles or the modern conveniences in the Russel cabin. The dinner will be in the wagons and old cookstoves," she said.

Those who haven't had these experiences don't know how wonderful this world really is, she said.

Miss Pemberton reminisced about the pupils she has known. She said she remembers most the

H-Builder Says Weapon Would Have Come Earlier With Oppenheimer Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Edward Teller, who fathered the H-bomb, testified April 28 that the dread weapon would have been developed four years earlier if Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer and others had given it their "moral" support.

But Dr. I. I. Rabi, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission advisory committee, and other atomic experts took sharp issue with this view. Rabi said the H-bomb "gadget" which Oppenheimer opposed in 1949 "has never been made and probably never will."

And Teller, along with others who pushed the H-bomb program, admitted that Oppenheimer finally showed enthusiasm for the project in the summer of 1951 after a startling discovery vastly increased the chances of success.

They made the statements in testimony before a special Atomic Energy Commission security board which recently declared Oppenheimer loyal but a security risk.

The 992-page transcript of the board hearings, made public by the AEC Tuesday night, was certain to touch off a new wave of debate in a swirling controversy that has already drawn the protests of leading scientific organizations. Among other things, it disclosed:

Charge 'Probable Soviet Agent'

1. William L. Borden, former staff director of the House Senate Atomic Energy Committee, charged in a letter to the FBI last November that the famed scientist was a probable "agent of the Soviet Union" who had "at least one Communist mistress."

Board Chairman Gordon Gray declared, however, that he and his two colleagues could find no support for this.

2. Most of the 40 witnesses who testified in 24-day hearings—including most of the nation's atomic leaders—called Oppenheimer completely loyal and a good keeper of secrets. But at least two—Teller and Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the wartime A-bomb project—said they would consider him a security risk under present regulations.

3. Oppenheimer admitted opposing a "crash" H-bomb program for moral and other reasons in 1949 but sees now that his judgment was wrong. He denied, however, that he ever deliberately tried to delay it.

4. Oppenheimer conceded he failed to report promptly an espionage offer made to him in 1943 and, then, like an "idiot," told a "cock and bull" story about it to cover up the involvement of a friend.

Based On Long Study

Borden, an aide to the late Sen. Brian McMahon (D-Conn.), said he based his charge on long study of the case.

It now appears clear that his letter was one of the reasons why President Eisenhower personally ordered Oppenheimer suspended as an AEC consultant last year and placed a "blank wall" between him and atom secrets.

The commission said it released the hearing transcript because Oppenheimer's attorneys had published some documents and "wide national interest" made it inevitable. It said it would not act on the board's finding until "later this month."

In briefs filed with the AEC last week and also made public last night, Oppenheimer's attorneys argued that the board was wrong in finding lack of enthusiasm for the H-bomb program as one reason for calling Oppenheimer a security risk.

Flanders said that the interval between now and mid-July might offer an opportunity to determine whether Fifth Amendment Communists find a parallel in "a Fifth Amendment senator."

Flanders based his ouster move on the assertion that McCarthy is in "contempt" of the Senate because he ignored six questions about his public and personal finances posed by a Senate subcommittee two years ago.

Lions Change Place, Time of Meetings

A change of meeting place and time was voted by members of the Harrisburg Lions club Tuesday evening.

Effective immediately, the Lions club will meet each Monday at 6 p. m. instead of Tuesday, as in the past. The meetings will be held at Murt's cafe, 422 South Granger street. The first meeting at the new location will be Monday, June 21.

As a money raising project, the club plans to sponsor a concession at the Saline county fair.

President is Quizzed on Plans By Reporters

Covers Wide Range Of World and Domestic Problems

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UNITED PRESS White House Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower left wide open today the question whether he will seek re-election. He said he is not casting his mind forward to 1956.

With a grin, the President said the matter of 1956 has not been discussed in the White House or by himself except possibly in a facetious vein.

The President also said it is entirely up to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York whether Dewey should seek re-election this year.

He made the statement at his weekly news conference when asked about a recent speech by Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams. Adams said Mr. Eisenhower might retire to his Pennsylvania farm at the end of his present term if the Republicans lose control of Congress this fall.

That's Adams' Opinion

Mr. Eisenhower said Adams was giving his own opinion.

Covering a wide range of domestic and international problems, Mr. Eisenhower also said:

1. The situation in Guatemala, where a Communist-supported government has suspended constitutional rights, is very disturbing. With apparent reference to Communist conquests in other lands, Mr. Eisenhower said affairs in Guatemala appear to be developing in a pattern which we have looked at in great dismay in more than one country. He said the United States is giving earnest and urgent study to the problem.

2. He will call Republican and Democratic congressional leaders to the White House soon to hear from Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith a detailed account of the failure to achieve a Korean peace settlement at Geneva. Smith will return from Geneva next week.

Would Scotch Rift Reports

3. He expects to talk about every outstanding international problem during next week's meeting with British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. He said he expects their highly informal talks to disprove the notion, exploited by unfriendly countries, that there has been a rift between the United States and Britain.

4. Cutting off all free world trade with Iran Curtin countries might do more harm than good because it would compel Red China and other communist satellite countries to depend entirely on Russia.

5. He never has implied or insinuated that he favored government support of farm prices at 100 per cent of parity. What he pledged in the 1952 campaign, he told a reporter emphatically, was to seek 100 per cent of parity in the market place. He refused to predict whether he would veto legislation to extend rigid high price supports for another year. He also declined to comment on the administration's attitude toward a provision of the House farm bill that would require Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson to raise dairy price supports from 75 per cent to 80 per cent of parity.

6. He has not seen a statement by Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) that the congressional Atomic Energy committee might hold hearings on the case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer if the Atomic Energy Commission should decide to restore Oppenheimer's security clearance. Cole said the committee would probably not hold hearings, however, if the commission ruled against Oppenheimer. Mr. Eisenhower said he did not think it would be appropriate for him to comment until he knew more about the statement.

Sheriff Paul Spangler said that Reynolds was driving south and Klapstein was driving north. He stated that the wheels of the Wisconsin man's auto dropped off the road, and when he pulled back onto the pavement his machine went sideways, hitting Reynolds.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

Enforcement of State Fireworks Laws May Insure Quietest Fourth in History

By DON CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 15 (Special) — One of the safest, sanest and quietest July Fourth in Illinois history was in prospect today but officials qualify predictions with "ifs." They expect it to be a fairly safe and sane Independence Day celebration "pointing out that newly amended state fireworks laws, if properly enforced, are a guarantee that loss of life, injury and property damage will be at a low level."

July Fourth this year will go down as the "paper-cap cap-pistol" Fourth. For statewide purposes it is the only fireworks device which may be used unrestricted. Sparklers were prohibited too, but more than half of the state will ignore the ban because a Chicago court enjoined enforcement. Some downtown counties, including Sangamon (Springfield), will accept the ruling. Others may enforce the law.

But all other fireworks will be restricted. If you want to light a fire cracker, set off a skyrocket, shoot roman candles, bang torpedoes or send up paper balloons, you had better get a permit. Permits are issued to adults only for supervised or public fireworks displays. Three adults must sign an application for a permit and a competent individual must supervise the display.

Here's the picture of what you can do or can't do if you are thinking of putting on a fireworks show for your kids, or for your own amusement.

If you live in Chicago or certain downstate counties which choose to follow the order of the Chicago judge banning enforcement of the law as it applies to sparklers you will be able to buy the item and use it without a permit. In other counties downstate you cannot use the sparklers without a permit. It will be up to each state's attorney to decide. Paper cap devices are not restricted.

Stiff penalties are provided for violators of state fireworks laws. Individuals who seek to shoot off restricted fireworks without a permit may be fined up to but not exceeding $100. Illegal fireworks sale or exposing them for sale are punishable by fines of from $25 to $1,000 or a year in jail or both depending on the degree of offense.

Under the amendments enacted by the 1953 General Assembly all fireworks except paper caps and cap pistols or other devices used to explode paper caps, are illegal. They declare that all fireworks producing visual effects which include sparklers are prohibited for sale or for use except under certified supervision of competent adults.

Still permitted is the sale of fireworks for display under supervision. These may be purchased within the state but out-of-state purchase of fireworks banned by Illinois will become illegal after July 1 under a federal law recently signed by President Eisenhower. Illinoisans, however, can continue to buy the Illinois-banned fireworks through June and be within the law.

Also permitted for retail sale to individuals for July Fourth celebrations are toy pistols, toy canes, toy guns or other devices in which to place paper caps containing 25 hundredths grains or less explosive, so constructed that the hand cannot come in contact with the cap at the time it is exploded. Such things as roman candles, etc., can be set off only under certified supervision.

Persons or groups wishing to sponsor a public fireworks display play or exposition must make written applications at least 15 days before July Fourth for a permit. In cities the application is to the city, village or town clerk and in counties it is to the county board. The application must make clear that a competent individual will supervise the display.

Appointment of Fred Cain, Jacksonville, as director of downstate organization for the Democratic State Committee, is no reflection on State Rep. Paul Powell, Vienna, minority leader of the Illinois House and former director of downstate organization for the Democrats. The state committee says Powell approved Cain and will give his time to electing Democratic state representatives.

Powell, however, will be trying to do something more than that. He will try to elect Democrats to replace Republicans who supported Governor Stratton's proposal to amend the senatorial section of the state constitution. Powell, a former speaker of the Illinois House, will concentrate in downstate, hopes to pick enough additional seats to give control to Democrats.

It probably won't be too long now before some state employees will be enjoying music with their work. Already one Springfield office has the equipment and all it needs is a nod to turn it on. The building, rented by the state — is owned by an insurance company which installed for free wired-in music equipment before it rented the space to the Driver License Department under Secretary Carpenter.

Efficiency in state government long ago yielded to morning and afternoon coffee breaks and it is now a regular morning and afternoon institution. So far state officials have shied at music but insurance companies claim it is their experience that music-while-you-work increases efficiency 15 per cent and makes office a lesser insurance risk.

The music in the driver license department has been tested but not turned on. Another department said to be contemplating it is the Sales Tax Division under Governor Stratton. One state elected officer turned it down but is likely to change about if other officers use it. He feared criticism. The idea is working in private industry. Many offices, particularly insurance companies, use it.

Miscellaneous — There'll be no beer at the Illinois State Fair for the second consecutive year this year. Governor Stratton said in response to a question that he did not know of any plans for beer at the fair this year. He banned it in 1953. . . . Workers injured on the job in 1953 numbered 105,000 which was 3,000 under 1952, according to a report to Stratton by State Labor Director Roy F. Cummins.

Saline and Christian counties are listed by the State Geological Survey as being the current centers of oil drilling interest in Illinois. Its June report says new oil pools have been discovered near Eldorado. New production activity in Christian county, the report said, also extends into Mason and Sangamon counties. Illinois daily production for May was 184,000 barrels, highest since 1948.

An Indiana newspaper has protested distribution by the Hoosier state university of free football tickets to members of the Indiana General Assembly. It claims the school hands out from four to five thousand free tickets to politicians each year. J. A. Franklin, university vice president and treasurer, calls the charge "fantastic" but admits some free tickets go to legislators.

Free tickets to legislators is nothing new in Illinois. The University of Illinois has been doing it for years. Each solon usually gets two tickets for each home game. That means 408 tickets per game for the 153 state representatives and 51 state senators. Illinois lawmakers also get annual passes for major league baseball parks in Chicago as well as for all race tracks in the state.

Governor Stratton will vacation in Colorado or some other western state starting next week. He plans to leave June 22 and return just before July Fourth. Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter has been piece-mealing his vacation with his family at Holland, Mich. Lieut. Gov. John W. Chapman will leave for northern Wisconsin the latter part of July.

State Auditor Orville Hodge and his wife are expected back in the state some time next week. They are on a European tour. State Treasurer Elmer J. Hoffman says he hasn't had a vacation in five years and has no intentions of taking one this year. State School Superintendent Vernon L. Nickell has been taking weekends in Wisconsin.

Billy Graham is Praised by British Archbishop

LONDON (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham was praised Tuesday night by Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, for giving "immense impetus" to spiritual revival in Britain.

"When all is said and done what the Church of England tries to say is precisely what Billy Graham tried to do in the past months," Fisher said.

He said that Graham in his 10-week Greater London Crusade "seized the imagination of a very great number of people, already converted Christians, semi-converted and not converted at all."

Graham, the archbishop said, "put before them the blunt truth of life and death, and choice and obedience, and the fact that he did it is a thing for which we should give unceasing thanks to God."

The archbishop said he believed "something like a spiritual revival does exist" and that it started before Graham arrived but the evangelist "gave it immense impetus."

He said it was now up to the church to carry on from where Graham left off. Graham is presently touring Scandinavia.

Re-election efforts take up most of his leisure time.

Miss Rita Helen Womack, Luke Stuart Jr. Wed in Candlelight Ceremony at Equality

Mr. and Mrs. Luke O. Stuart Jr.

Miss Rita Helen Womack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Womack, Equality, became the bride of Luke O. Stuart Jr., son of Mrs. Ira Adams, Equality, in a candlelight ceremony Saturday, June 12, at the Equality Methodist church. The double ring service was performed at 7 o'clock in the presence of relatives and friends.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. White gladioli and palms on the altar flanked white candelabra entwined with ivy. The rear windows of the sanctuary held white candles in brass containers. Miss Karen Sue Thetford lighted the tapers.

Several piano selections were played preceding the service by Miss Sue Stuart who also accompanied Miss Joann Moore who sang "Because." Miss Stuart played the traditional wedding procession and recessional marches from Mendelssohn and Lohengrin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a nylon and lace gown of ballerina length, fashioned with long pointed sleeves and a demure Peter Pan collar. Her illusion veil was trimmed with nylon lace and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and stephanotis on a nylon lace fan with white ribbon streamers.

Miss Nancy Crest, friend of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a strapless gown of nylon net and carrying a nosegay of pink roses and daisies with streamers.

Norval Cooper served as best man. Mrs. Womack chose for her daughter's wedding a lavender linen dress and a beach gamelia corsage. Mrs. Stuart was dressed in pink tulle with a lavender gamelia corsage.

A reception in the church basement followed the wedding. Mrs. Sonny Frohock and Mrs. Pat Hines were hostesses, and Miss Daisy Fink presided at the bride's table. Following a wedding trip in the North the couple will reside in Equality.

The bride is a graduate of the Equality high school in the class of 1954, and the bridegroom was graduated from the Equality high school in 1949 and spent a year at S. I. U. before entering the Army in 1951. He spent a year in Germany with an engineering construction unit.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Rev. and Mrs. Ira Thetford and daughters, Granite City; Earl Jones, Mascoutah; Tom Drone, Ridgway, and Mrs. Frank Mitchell, Eldorado.

McCarthy Signed Schine Request, Welch Reveals

Roy M. Cohn, of using "improper means" to obtain special treatment of Schine. The McCarthy said responded by alleging the Army held Schine "hostage" in efforts to blackmail the subcommittee out of its investigations of alleged subversives in the service.

Welch declined to tell newsmen during the lunch recess how McCarthy signed the application—as a witness, a reference, or in some other capacity.

UN Security Council Opens Thailand Hearing

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Nationalist China told the U. N. Security Council today that the Communists have set up in readiness a so-called "free government of Thailand" within Red China.

Nationalist Chinese Delegate Dr. Tingu F. Tsiang made the revelation as he supported Thailand's request for the U. N. to send a peace patrol comprising members of three to five countries to keep watch over the Communist advance in Indochina.

Under a resolution formally presented by Thai Ambassador Pote

Sarasin, the U. N. watchdog team would be permitted to enter other countries bordering Indochina only upon authorization from the U. N. and invitation from the governments concerned.

The United States formally endorsed Thailand's resolution and said it would ask for a quick vote "at the proper time."

The council also heard support expressed for the resolution by representatives of Britain, New Zealand, Turkey and Brazil and adjourned until Friday.

Colorado Makes Strong Bid to AF Investigators

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Ten Air Force inspectors, getting a quiet come-on from every quarter, began a specialized survey of 15,000 acres 11 miles north of here today to determine whether the mountain-shadowed site is right for the air academy.

Gov. Dan Thornton met the Air Force team, headed by Col. L. J. Erler, at the start of Tuesday's bus tour of the tract and surrounding landmarks, including the spectacular Garden of the Gods in the lee of the Rockies.

While looking over another proposed site at Lake Geneva, Wis., recently the Air Force inspectors were informed by placard-carrying property owners that they did not want to be displaced by the air academy.

But from Thornton on down, Colorado was making a strong subdued bid to obtain the installation, which one day will rival West Point and Annapolis as a military college.

A third site, near Alton, Ill., also is under consideration as the location for the air academy.

Roseville Physician, Named Illinois Doctor Of Year in 1949, Dies

ROSEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Dr. Lee F. Hoyt, 58, named 1949 outstanding general practitioner for Illinois by the State Medical Society, died today at home.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, both physicians. One, Dr. Robert L. Hoyt, is in practice at Watseka, and the other, Dr. John L., assisted his father.

Hoyt was born in Good Hope, Ill., the son of a farmer. He was for many years the only physician serving this area, giving medical aid to about 4,000 persons. So crowded were his office hours that the town board here finally established a special parking place near the intersection of two state highways for his patients.

He sponsored a community health program in this area, and had a farm on which he did experimental work on the effect of soil components on the nutritional value of foods.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

He Was Called 'Black Jack'

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

"John was a pert little fellow of three years, blackeyed, blackhaired, and darkskinned, straightbuilt and Indian-like, as his father was before him." This is a brief but rather sharp description of a Jackson county boy who grew up to become a national figure and one of the state's most colorful characters. It is taken from the memoirs of Daniel Harmon Brush, a prominent citizen of the long-vanished village of Brownsville.

The boy described was John Alexander Logan, whose father, Dr. John Logan, had settled on a farm where the city of Murphysboro now stands. Parts of Brush's description of Logan in 1829 applied equally as well to the famous general of 40 years later.

In the years that had passed since Brush observed the three year old, Logan had lived a somewhat varied and eventful life. His education was broken. He attended the local school, was taught at home by his father, and went for a short time to Shiloh college in Randolph county and to Louisville university at Louisville, Kentucky. He also studied law in the office of his uncle, Lieutenant Governor Alexander M. Jenkins.

Indicted for Gambling

Logan's father was a great lover of race horses. He also maintained a track on his farm where races were held regularly. The most daring and successful jockey who rode at the Dr. Logan track was his son, John A. Perhaps this association with racing and the betting that accompanied it led John A. to indulge in a bit of gambling as indicated by indictment returned by the grand jury in September 1846. It charged that "on the 4th day of August 1846 John Logan Jr., and Samuel Hays did then and there play together at a game called seven up for money contrary to form of the statutes and against the peace and dignity of the state." The warrant for Logan's arrest was "served by taking John Logan into custody." A bond for $100 was signed by Logan with Jonathan Heiple as surety. This case against Logan was continued many times, in fact so many times that he was able to serve as a lieutenant in the War with Mexico before being brought to trial at the April term of court in 1849.

His legal infractions, however, did not prevent his being elected as county clerk for Jackson county in 1849. He was serving in that office when the foregoing case was finally settled by his payment of a fine of $10 and costs of $17 on September 21, 1850.

Elected to Congress

A second indictment charged Logan and others "did unlawfully play together with dollars at a game called pitching dollars for one pint of whiskey of the value of ten cents." In the trial that followed Logan was found "not guilty as charged."

Logan continued to grow in public favor, becoming prosecuting attorney for the Third Judicial Circuit in 1852. He was shortly elected to the state legislature where he was an active supporter of the legislation often referred to as the Black Laws, enacted in 1853. He was elected to Congress in 1858, and re-elected in 1860.

Logan was first a rabid Democrat, supporting Stephen A. Douglas and bitterly attacking Abraham Lincoln. When Lincoln won the election in 1860, however, Logan declared that he would "shoulder a musket to have him inaugurated." Rallied Southern Illinois

While in Washington for the special session of Congress in July 1861, Logan left the city and attached himself to an Iowa regiment at the battle of Bull Run. He valiantly but unsuccessfully sought to rally retreating Union troops and was among the very last to leave the field of battle.

Shortly after Bull Run, Logan returned to Southern Illinois and

Soviet Bombers Can Outfly B36's, B52's, Ex-Nazi Airman Says

BERLIN (AP) — New Soviet long-distance atomic bombers can outfly American B36's and B52's and attack United States cities without refueling, a former Nazi airman claimed in an official Communist magazine.

Former Luftwaffe Maj. Egbert Von Frankenberg said Russia's six-jet Tupolev 226 and Ilyushin 38 can fly 4772 miles and return without refueling even in the air. They are "far superior" to American strategic bombers, he said.

Von Frankenberg wrote in the Soviet-licensed magazine Free World published Tuesday five days before the celebration of Soviet air force day in Moscow.

Seeks Damages

Herman Temple seeks $180 damages from Joyce Wilson as the result of a motor vehicle collision on Route 13 eight miles west of Harrisburg Dec. 3, 1953. The complaint asking the damages was filed for Temple in circuit court by Atty. Lloyd H. Melton.

In a memorable speech on the public square at Marion pledged his full support to the national cause. This decided stand by Logan did much to rally the people of Southern Illinois to the support of the national government.

Logan recruited a regiment of soldiers, and became their colonel in September 1861. His services in combat at Fort Donelson won him a commission as Brigadier General in March of 1862. For services at Vicksburg he was made a Major General in July 1863. Upon the death of General McPherson, Logan was made Commander of the Army of the Tennessee.

Led Men into Battle

In combat Logan was an inspiring leader. Daring to the point of recklessness he often, even after becoming a major general, personally led his command into battle. Few military men have won and held the great personal devotion that was given Logan.

After the war, Logan re-entered politics as a Republican. He was elected as Congressman at Large for the State of Illinois in 1866, later becoming a United States Senator. He was a candidate for vice president and was being groomed for the presidency when he died in 1886. Logan was active in the formation of the Grand Army of the Republic and was three times chosen as its National Commander. Through the G.A.R. he launched the movement establishing Memorial Day.

Striking in personal appearance, a forceful and eloquent speaker, energetic, restless, impulsive and daring, Logan soon became a legendary figure of Southern Illinois.

Creal Springs Woman is Killed

CREAL SPRINGS, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Edna Coughlin, 65, of near Creal Springs, was killed in a head-on traffic collision on a gravel road near here Tuesday night in which her husband, John, and Mr. and Mrs. Webb Deaton, Creal Springs, were injured.

Coughlin and the Deatons were reported in "fairly good" condition at a Marion hospital today. The Deatons' two children escaped injury in the accident.

Deaton was on his way home after visiting his father at his farm home near here and the Coughlins were en route to visit the elder Deaton when the accident happened.

We'll Win With What We've Got, Durocher Says As Giants Take National Lead

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Three remarks by three managers sized up the situation nicely in the American league pennant race today.

One quote from one manager explained how things were going in the National.

Al Lopez, whose Cleveland Indians had a three-game lead, the widest any club has enjoyed in either league this season, said that "We'll be all right when we get back home, if we don't lose too much ground on the road because then Al Rosen and Bobby Avila will be back in shape."

He made the remark a week ago.

Casey Stengel, observing how the Indians were winning without Rosen and Avila, said that it was "how consolation to beat the White Sox three out of four, because 'It looks like those Cleveland guys are going to be the ones we'll have to catch.'"

Paul Richards, the boss of the White Sox, said that he thought it would be easier to catch the Indians than the Yankees.

"But the big thing is to stop Cleveland from winning at home," Richards said. "None of the other clubs in the league have been taking advantage of their home stands. They lose when they should win. And that includes us."

In the National league, Manager Leo Durocher of the first place Giants said that he had abandoned "Operation Shakewell."

"We're going to win with what we've got," he said. "We're going to operate as much as we can with a pat lineup."

Wednesday night Cleveland came back home, Rosen came back into the lineup as a pinch-hitter and the Indians beat the Senators, 9-3, with a six run rally in the eighth that featured a two-run double by Rosen. Art Houtteman won his sixth game with relief help from Hal Newhouser.

The White Sox suffered an 11-4 defeat from the revived Athletics, who won their fifth game in a row as ex-Chicagoan Bill Wilson hit a three-run homer and rookie Jim Fingen got a triple, double and two singles to drive in four runs. Bob Keegan was handed his second defeat against nine wins. Bill Fenna also hit a homer for the Athletics.

The Yankees topped the Orioles, 6-4, as Allie Reynolds won his eighth straight game and Joe Collins hit a three-run homer.

Steve Gromek won his eighth game, a seven-hitter, 4-1, over the Red Sox at Detroit. Grady Hatton hit a homer to beat him out of a shutout.

In the National league, the Giants took over first place with a stirring two-out ninth inning homer with two on by Hank Thompson for a 5-3 win over Cincinnati.

The Dodgers fell behind a full game when they lost, 7-6, to Milwaukee on Johnny Logan's single in a two-run eighth. Duke Snider hit a three-run homer in a losing cause.

The Cardinals topped the Phils, 3-1, on Vic Raschi's six-hitter and a two-run homer for Rip Repulski. It was the fourth straight loss for the Phils.

Expect 40,000 At Marciano, Charles Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles broke camp today as fans poured into New York and workmen erected the new $37,000 ring in Yankee Stadium for Thursday night's $500,000 heavyweight title fight.

Champion Marciano, favored at 17-5, packed his gear at Grossinger, N. Y., and prepared to fly toward New York by helicopter late today. Charles, at Monticello, N. Y., was slated to motor to Manhattan early tonight.

"If we get a break in the weather, the crowd will exceed 40,000," said promoter Jim Norris. "Reports from air lines, railroads, bus companies and hotels reveal unexpectedly heavy movements because of rapidly increasing interest in the fight."

Norris and his associates in the International Boxing Club were attempting to assure their own "weather break" by erecting a canopy over the ring so that the fight could go on in event of rain.

A canopy was being used for the first time in New York boxing history because the IBC was taking the biggest weather gamble in ring annals. If the fight could not be staged Thursday night, it would have to be postponed a full week to Thursday, June 24, due to previous commitments for the cables used in theatre-television.

The long-range forecast indicated possible showers. But such predictions are extremely unreliable.

When Marciano, 29, and Charles, 32, square off at 10:30 p. m. EDT, there will be no home television. But the scheduled 15-round bout will be broadcast nationally by ABC.

The odds favoring Rocky had dropped a point from 18-5 to 17-5. But it was still an "even money" bet the Rock would win on a kayo, and it was 5-1 against Ezzard's stopping the champion.

As the two principals broke camp today and prepared to spend tonight in mid-town hotels, Marciano expected to scale about 185 pounds at the weigh-in Thursday noon in Madison Square Garden. Charles planned to register about 189.

Eldorado's softball league, which has operated successfully for many summers, will continue play again this summer with opening game on the schedule played Monday. Only five teams are in the league. Harrisburg will be represented by the American Legion team.

John Romonosky didn't see much action with Columbus in American Association play last week—getting into two games.

In one game he was a pinch runner and scored. In a relief stint against Kansas City he was touched for a couple of safe hits.

The Phils have dubbed their reserve catcher, Stan Lopata, "Esquire" because of the number of fancy coats in his wardrobe, reports The Sporting News.

The late Chief Bender received this most useless gift several years back when at a testimonial dinner in Philadelphia, the Baseball Writers Association of that city tendered him a solid gold razor set in complete ignorance of the fact that full-blooded Indians grow no beards, says The Sporting News.

In Track Meet

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The Big Ten ended the Pacific Coast's three year domination of their annual inter-conference track meet Tuesday night as Midwesterners scored points in all but one relay of 16 events for a 74-58 triumph.

Big Ten athletes, sparked by runners from the Illinois squad which finished second in the NCAA last weekend, grabbed 7 first places in the 13 individual events as well as 2 relays.

Illinois runners accounted for five individual triumphs. Ralph Fessenden took the 440. Willie Williams the 100-yard dash. Willard Thomson the 120-yard high hurdles. Gene Maynard the 880 and Joe Corley the 220-yard low hurdles.

Other Big Ten individual winners were pole vaulter Bob Ehrhardt, Northwestern, and Gene Mathews, Purdue, in the two-mile. Ehrhardt went 14 feet to top the NCAA champion, Larry Anderson, California, who tied with Walt Leavick, Southern California, for second with 13 feet 8 inches.

It was the Big Ten's fifth win in the series and the first since 1949. The Pacific Coast has won 8 events.

Olson Wins Easy
TKO Victory
Over Jesse Turner

HONOLULU (AP) — World middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson won an easy TKO victory Tuesday night over Jesse Turner of St. Louis after the referee warned he would toss Olson out of the ring unless he showed some aggressiveness.

The warning, delivered by Referee Louis Frettas at the end of the seventh, had its effect. Olson came out in the eighth, swarmed over Turner and Frettas then stopped the uneven match in one minute and nine seconds of the frame.

The non-title fight was scheduled for 10 rounds.

For Olson, who weighed in at 166½, it was the first match in his home town since he became champion. He now lives in San Francisco.

Turner, 161, a Negro, was willing but outmatched. Olson won every round, most of them by wide margins. He had Turner groggy and badly cut about the nose and mouth when Freitas finally stepped in.

Johnny Farrell Predicts One of Dark Horses May Thwart Hogan's Bid in Open

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Dapper Johnny Farrell, who qualified on two counts for this year's U. S. Open golf championship, predicted today "one of the dark horses" may thwart Ben Hogan's record bid for a fifth National Open crown.

"Ben is feeling well and playing well," said Farrell, who won the Open way back in 1928 and is the home pro at Baltusrol where Hogan bucks a field of 161 challengers in four rounds starting Thursday.

"But Baltusrol is no cinch even for a Hogan and some of these top young pros are likely to be heard from," said Farrell. "Things have changed on the tournament trail in recent years and these young fellows who have been winning a lot of money under pressure can be dangerous when it's just one man against the field."

Farrell especially emphasized the chances of Bob Toski of Livingston, N. J., the year's leading money winner. Then he grouped in the "field" such stars as Doug Ford and Jackie Burke of Klamath Lake, N. Y.; Shelley Mayfield of Seguin, Tex.; and Bob Rosburg of Chicago.

Farrell qualified this year both as one of the old champions and as the home club pro. Neither factor will be an exemption for him next year, when the Open moves to another club and only the last five previous champions will be permitted to skip the sectional trials.

Hogan and most of the others gave Baltusrol another twist Tuesday with Bantam Ben still maintaining that his 1948 records of 276 could be broken and all others disagreeing violently.

Snead'll Take 284
Sam Snead, whose neck-ache is a major topic around the premises, said "I'll take 284 right now and let the rest of them shoot at that."

Snead's caddy said Sam "went around in about 70" but Sam denied he did that well. He added, though, his ailing neck and back are on the mend.

Bobby Locke of South Africa, the British Open champion, is one who disagrees with Ben that 276 or better is possible on Baltusrol's 7,027 yard par 34-36-70.

"This course is too bloomin' long for me," said Bobby. "Maybe it's par 70 on the scorecard but I play it as a par 76."

STREET ROD

by Henry Gregor Felsen

Copyright 1953 by Henry Gregor Felsen. Printed by arrangement with the publisher, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NLA Service.

THE STORY: Ricky Madison, 16, has just started to realize how badly he has been cheated in buying an old car from a disreputable dealer. His friends, all hot-rod owners, say the car is worth $35 or less. Ricky is ashamed to admit he paid $75.

Ricky was last in line when they started. But once they were under way the thrill and glory of being under his own wheel at last made him impatient.

He began to crowd Jerry, riding close, almost blinded by dust and riding into a shower of stones that flew back through the dust to rattle against his hood and windshield.

"You crazy or something?" Jerry yelled furiously. Ricky couldn't hear, and didn't look over to see how Jerry was taking being passed.

He took Chub next and then Sherm. They let him clatter by, puzzled by the fierceness of his driving, wary of his recklessness.

He was showing them. He closed in on Link. All the cars, which were leading the pack, Link had always led, from the days when they were little kids. No matter what it was, he'd always been the first to try something new and succeed at it, from riding a two-wheel bike to having a car.

Ricky drew up alongside Link, looked over, and received a crooked, sardonic grin in return. He pressed the accelerator against the floor with all his strength, intending to spurt past Link, but for some reason he didn't pull ahead.

The ride was getting too wild for Ricky. Bumps threw him in the air, he landed heavily, his car fought to run off the side of the road. He was scared, afraid a bad hole would toss him off the road or into Link's car.

He risked another look to see how Link was taking his break-neck race and was shocked to see the easy, mocking grin still on Link's mouth, and the relaxed, one-handed driving.

A car approached. Ricky focused his eyes on it, sighting over the wheel as though aiming a gun. The road wasn't wide enough for three. Somebody would have to give. Somebody else.

Ricky glanced at Link again. Link's grin was tighter.

Link could yield or pull ahead, to let Ricky in behind him. But Link responded to Ricky's determination not to yield by matching Ricky's speed. They stayed abreast.

Ricky knew Link was forcing him to the limit and keeping him there, testing him, sure that Ricky would give at the last moment, break, and pull in behind the convertible.

The car ahead loomed larger. The driver slowed as he saw the two cars bear down on him at top speed.

Ricky saw the car slow down and waver as the driver tried to make up his mind. But he wouldn't give. He wouldn't! Not to Link. Not any more. He straightened his arms and braced himself.

There was going to be a crash. They'd both hit the oncoming car. There was always the ditch. . . .

The driver of the approaching car made the needed move to avert disaster. He pulled off the road and went into the ditch, a fraction of a second before the two racing cars roared past, showering him with dust and gravel. As he flashed by, Ricky caught a glimpse of the man's staring face, and saw the lips moving. He didn't hear the man hoarsely begging Providence for a gun with which to kill the drivers of the cars that had driven him from the road.

And then Link lifted his hand in a farewell gesture, and without seeming effort or strain his car shot ahead, leaving Ricky to fight the blinding dust and spray of pebbles and stones that flew up from under the tires. It was with a mixed feeling of frustration and relief that Ricky gave up, eased off the gas pedal and was kind to his tortured machine.

In town again, he pulled up alongside Link's yellow convertible where it was parked in front of the drugstore. Link and Sharon were already in the store. Ricky pushed through the door as the other boys drove into the square and nosed into place beside his car.

Link and Sharon were sitting side by side in a booth. Link looked amused as Ricky came in, Sharon angry.

"What happened to you?" Link asked. "When I shifted into high, you were gone."

"You just wait," Ricky said. "Anybody can beat that old heap now, but you just wait."

"You . . . fools!" Sharon burst out. She wanted to say more, but she was too angry to speak. "By the time I've got high-compression heads . . ." Ricky began seriously, looking at Link, "and dual springing ignition, and

"You fool, you," Link said in a high voice. "You kuhrazy dun-river."

Sharon moved away from Link. Ricky looked at her with a rock-less smile on his lips, but when she did look at him for a moment, there was nothing but disgust on her pretty face.

"Man, man, man," Sherm Lucas kept repeating as he clumped into the drugstore. "Ricky, you're a wild hare if I ever saw one."

"Nuts," Chub said, sitting down beside Ricky. "Just plain, ordinary nuts! That's what you are. Boy, if you're gonna be driving, I'm gonna take flying lessons. I don't want no part of no road you're on."

Ricky smiled sarcastically, pleased with himself. "I scare you out?"

"Running somebody off the road isn't a game," Jerry said as he joined the group. "I thought we were going to have some bodies to carry home."

Army Nurse at Herrin Recruiting Station June 24

Captain Alice J. Bender, Army Nurse counselor, will visit the Herrin Army and Air Force recruiting station June 24 to interview interested persons about nursing and the Army Nurse corps.

Captain Bender, a graduate of the Home Hospital, Lafayette, Ind., received her B. S. degree in nursing education from the University of Indiana and is a member of the American Nurses Ass'n and the National League for Nursing.

Her military nursing career began early in 1945 when she was assigned as head nurse of an orthopedic ward in the hospital at Fort Campbell, Ky. At the end of that year she was in Yokohama, Japan, as an instructor of enlisted personnel and assistant to the chief nurse of the Army hospital there. By September of 1952 she was chief nurse of the 8209th Mobile Army Surgical hospital in Korea. To this unit, just eight miles behind the line, casualties were evacuated from the "Heartbreak Ridge" and "Punch Bowl" areas.

As one of the Fifth Army Nurse Corps counselors, Captain Bender informs student nurses and registered nurses of new programs within the Army Nurse corps. She may be contacted at the Herrin recruiting station, 100 South Park avenue (Employment Office) between the hours of 8 a. m. and 3 p. m. during her visit on June 24. She will also give a 15-minute talk over radio station WJPF.

Appointments to Fill County Vacancies Named

William Alfred Smith, chairman of the Saline County Board of Supervisors who Monday was given authority by the board to make a number of appointments to fill vacancies, today announced his selections.

Appointed to the Saline County Tuberculosis board to succeed Dr. J. Klein, Harrisburg, whose term has expired, was Dr. Warren D. Tuttle, also of this city.

Walter Russell, operator of a service station and grocery store at Galatia, was named to the Saline County Housing authority to succeed J. Roy Staiger of Harrisburg, whose term expired in April. Russell was a deputy sheriff under O. T. Pickering.

There were three vacancies on the Saline County Welfare committee and Smith named J. H. Jackson, Galatia businessman, Marie Lepp, Galatia nurse, and Clara L. Pittman, Harrisburg, employed as an abstractor by John W. Lockwood, to the committee.

The queenly pearl is the only precious gem to come from the sea, and the only one produced by a living process.

The Cardinals as a scout and two years later was promoted to Regional Director of the St. Louis Card farm system, in charge of one of four baseball territories into which the country was divided by the Cardinal organization.

Other directors were Joe Mathis, now farm director for the Cards; Pop Kelleher, chief scout emeritus for the Cards, and Eddie Dyer, who later became Cardinal manager.

Wid went with the Brooklyn organization in 1942 as a scout and until he left was accepted as one of baseball's outstanding judges of talent, a rating he still holds with the Chicago Cubs.

In 1946 and 1947 Wid scouted the American league championship clubs for Ford Frick of the National league.

The Cubs have not been a winning club during the years Matthews has been with them, but he took over with a club that had practically "come apart at the seams" after the pennant winning year of 1945.

Although in seventh place, the Cubs have played good ball this year, showing a tremendous batting punch. Maybe the work of the boy who played most of his early baseball in Saline county is beginning to pay off.

Matthews was married to the former Willie Graves of Hattiesburg, Miss., May 16, 1930, and has made his permanent home in the southern city ever since.

Travel Now, Pay Later Just One Vacation Lure

By JAMES FLOWERS
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Rail, air, bus lines and hotels are going all out this year with reduced rates and other extras—including installment plan travel—to woo the modest-budgeted summer vacationer. And they are looking for a boom season which may top anything they ever experienced.

Pan American Airways, for example, recently introduced a "Pay Later Plan"—10 per cent down and up to 20 months to pay the balance—to bring international air travel within reach of the average man. Sample round-trip from New York: A two-week tour of London, Paris, Rome and the Riviera for $82 down and 12 monthly payments of $68.97.

Scandinavian Airlines also has an "on-the-cuff" arrangement for European vacations that even includes cash for shopping. It features a "Signature Travel Plan" with no deposit, no down payment and 24 months to pay. Scandinavian says your signature alone is enough for the ticket—if your credit is good.

Trans World Airlines is prepared to arrange anything from a student seminar to Geneva to a tiger hunt in India with their sky tourist flights. TWA officials say Spain and Portugal are among the best travel buys in Europe right now because of the dollar exchange in those countries.

One thing that is giving travel agencies and carriers a shot in the arm is the reduction of federal tax on transportation to 10 per cent. Right now most airlines are enjoying a 23 per cent increase in passenger traffic over 1953, and they are anxious to see the travel boom continue through the summer months.

For instance, National Airlines is offering half-fare family plans between New York, Miami and Cuba on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, as do many domestic lines. Eastern Airlines has long featured reduced rate night air coach flights to Florida points with combination "package" vacations at palatial resort hotels.

Resort Airlines has reduced the prices of winter flights from New York to the Caribbean area up to 40 per cent, and the new rates are approximately 15 per cent under last summer's prices.

These all-expense "flying house-party" air cruises include hotels, meals, and sightseeing. Resort calls it "flightseeing" around the islands, and plugs the fact that lower altitudes and leisurely schedules mean more to see.

Since hotels and their facilities are usually the basic attraction for the vacationer, inn-keepers around the country have been sending out attractive lures for weeks now to entice the summer holiday throngs. Swank, ocean-front establishments at Miami Beach have already slashed winter rates, and many of them are throwing in meals and entertainment with the day's lodging.

In Washington, D. C., a tourist mecca the year-round, the Willard Hotel has a family plan that features no charge for children under 14 when they occupy the same accommodations with their parents. The Shoreham has a similar plan.

During July and August, the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago offers a $10-a-day special for room, breakfast and a special daily attraction such as a reserved seat for Cinerama or a major league baseball game.

The nation's railroads also have some choice travel buys for vacation bargain hunters. The nine railroads serving New York City recently established summer cut-rate schedules for families who want to come to New York from any point in the U. S., either first class or coach.

Sample round-trip fare for a man, wife and three children aged 15, 10 and four years offered by the Pennsylvania Railroad: first class passage (berth extra) from St. Louis $209.25—a saving of $107.

Western railroads like the Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Burlington and Northern Pacific also feature the family plan fares and other extras such as escorted tours. The Seaboard Airline Railroad and the Atlantic Coast Line are plugging "package vacations" to Florida at the "lowest fares ever."

"We don't have summer rates because our fares are already the lowest possible," say an official of the nation-wide Greyhound Bus Lines. "However, bus travelers can save 10 per cent with a round-trip ticket. And our weekend excursions offer sharply reduced fares for the fellow with the short, short vacation in mind. We're looking for a booming travel business this summer."

So is everyone else in the business.

'Man of Year' Turns Out to Be a Woman

SAGINAW, Mich. — (AP) — Local AFL leaders met to select their "man of the year" and wound up by naming a woman.

She's Ruth Lukowski, a member of the AFL Office Workers Union and chief shop steward for Saginaw and nearby Bay City. She was cited as having made "the greatest contribution to labor in the area during the past year."

World's largest offshore fishing grounds are the Grand Banks, off Newfoundland.

BROTHERS VISIT IN JAPAN—Benny M. Kornegay G. M. 2, (left) and A 1-c Teddy S. Kornegay, who are brothers and sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Easley, RFD 1, Harrisburg, recently had a nice visit in Nagaya, Japan, where Teddy is stationed, before Benny started back to the U. S. on the U. S. S. Los Angeles. Teddy has been in Japan since December 1953 and will be there for some time yet. Benny will be in the States again the latter part of June after 21 months overseas during his enlistment. Teddy spent the New Year week end on the ship with Benny after he arrived in Japan.

The above picture was taken of them there in May. Bob Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Wise, also visited Teddy during May. He is stationed in Korea. Teddy stated in a letter to his parents it "sure seems good to see some familiar faces from home." He would be delighted to hear from his schoolmates. His address is: A 1-c Teddy S. ## PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

Real Diplomat—Such is Fame—Blames Schools—Hard-Way Lesson—Can't Please All—Inside Info

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, King of Kings and Lion of Judah, who is now touring the U. S. as a guest of the American government, proved he was every inch a diplomat during his first stop in Washington.

At the White House dinner, talking to U. S. Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, the emperor said he can't understand why more American's don't speak French. Haile Selassie himself speaks fluent French, but his English is rather difficult.

Secretary Humphrey, to make small talk, said the reason Americans don't learn French is because they are lazy.

The emperor got that all right, but he protested vigorously. Americans are not lazy, he insisted. They work hard, and look at the big buildings and cities and dams they erect. The reason Americans don't learn to speak French, the emperor insisted, is because they are proud of their country and they think that eventually everyone else in the world will learn to speak English.

NILS LENNARTSON, Treasury information chief, got a Dalmatian pup not long ago. He has been showing the dog around and winning a few ribbons.

When he told his boss, Secretary George Humphrey, about it, the secretary said that reminded him of a prize beagle he had on his plantation down at Thomasville, Ga. The dog was handled by one of the plantation hands named Rufus. When the beagle won his first prize, and photographs were taken, Rufus sat up all night, waiting for the morning paper so he could read all about it.

When he unfolded the sheet and saw the picture his eyes widened and he said solemnly, "Dog, you done made me famous."

MAJ-GEN. S. D. Sturgis, Jr., Chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, puts full blame for the current shortage and low quality of engineering graduates on the public high schools which don't give their students proper basic training.

SWEETIE PIE

Writing in Civil Engineering magazine, General Sturgis asks: "How can they teach college-level engineering and scientific subjects to classes of which only 66 per cent can correctly multiply 25x39; of which only 60 per cent can express 3/20ths as a decimal; of which only 81 per cent can divide 7,642.38 by 1000? These were the results of tests recently given to a freshman class at one of our leading universities..."

"In a study of 200,000 eighth graders, only 6 per cent could find 2.1 per cent of 60."

REPUBLICAN congressmen have found out the hard way since President Eisenhower's inauguration that it's more complicated and difficult to be the party in power in Washington than it is to be in the minority.

When the Republicans were "outs" they could blame all their troubles on the Democrats. Now the GOP has to take the blame itself.

SECRETARY OF HEALTH, Education and Welfare Culp Hobby must have a pretty good middle-of-the-road program for expansion of the U. S. Social Security System, because she is being attacked by extremists from both ends of the benefit scale.

The Townsend Plan people have been criticizing her for not recommending high enough benefits for the aged.

On the other hand, Marjorie Shearon, active for a number of years in the fight against "socialized medicine," is quoted in Committee for Constitutional Government's Spotlight as reporting to her legislative service clients:

"The (Eisenhower) administration seems determined to out-do the New Dealers and the Fair Dealers in the pursuit of socialism." She declared Secretary Hobby's statement to Congress was "Altmeyer all over—the same proposals we have heard for years."

Dr. Arthur Altmeyer, Social Security administrator during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, was one of the first officials to be dismissed after Secretary

Red POW's From Korea Join China's Nationalist Forces

By WILLIAM MILLER

UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT
TAIPEH — The majority of the 14,000 Chinese ex-POW's who came to Formosa from Korea rather than return to Red China have been integrated into the Nationalist Chinese army.

About 150 have been given scholarships to enter the National University. Others will attend army and civilian specialist training schools. An unspecified number, probably under 200, are to be retired in "honorable soldiers' homes." Others, too old or physically unqualified for military duty, are urged to take civilian jobs.

Nationalist leaders insist that the entire procedure has been voluntary. They say the vast majority of the ex-POW's have asked to be used as shock troops against the Communist armies.

The Nationalist plan to take every advantage of the previous military experience of these men, some 7,000 of whom were once Nationalist regulars before the fall of the mainland to the Reds.

Attend Classes
Former officers are to be commissioned with the rank they once held in the Nationalist army. Hundreds of others are to be sent directly to officer candidate schools. Some are to be rewarded with commissions for outstanding work done while in the POW compounds.

A visit to one of the several camps where they have been housed for three months leaves the impression that the men are happy in their new surroundings. They have led a leisurely soldier's life since arriving in Formosa.

They have attended daily political classes for two to three hours. Here they have mostly been told the goals of the Nationalist. The faults of Mao Tse-tung's Red regime also have been discussed.

During their afternoons they spend their time in sports or planting flower beds around their huts. Their diet has been far better than that of the average Chinese soldier. Civic organizations have seen to this with donations of thousands

U. S. Officer is Holder Of German Iron Cross

Some Find Relatives

A handful have discovered relatives in Formosa, but the majority expect to see their families again only if a Nationalist counter-attack against Red China is successful.

Approximately half were Nationalist soldiers before the retreat of Chiang Kai-shek to Formosa. Some 3,000 were members of the Communist party at one time or another. Almost all claim they were forced into the Red Army.

There has been no hard feeling against them as former enemies. To the contrary, they have been treated as national heroes.

Their choice to come to Formosa has been hailed here as the Nationalists' greatest victory in five years. It represents, Nationalist leaders maintain, the turning of the tide against Mao Tse-tung.

MEUNCHWEILER, Germany — Lt. Col. Kurt Katzman of the U. S. Army Medical Corps is one of the few American officers who has been decorated with the German Iron Cross.

Born in Hannover, Katzman fought for the Germans in World War I and, in addition to the Iron Cross, received the German equivalent of the American Purple Heart decoration for wounds in action.

Katzman, emigrated to the United States in 1938 and joined the U. S. Army in 1943.

He presently is stationed at the 804th U. S. Army hospital here as an ear, nose and throat specialist.

Unions Build Plush Command Posts in Washington

Labor's Boom in Capital Adds to $15
Million Investment

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—The nation's labor leaders are getting themselves some plush command and observation posts in town for keeping a close eye on the administration and the government.

Dave Beck, for instance, head of the large AFL International Union of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers will soon move into a new $4 million marble headquarters with a clear, uninterrupted view of the Capitol.

Beck's private suite has a giant picture window facing the Senate side. It's close enough for him to read the fine print on any labor legislation with low-powered binoculars merely by twisting his leather swivel chair.

In fact, every member on Beck's staff can spend lunch hours and coffee breaks watching congressional antics. On top of the new building will be a penthouse with sun deck, snack bar, lounge and ping pong tables.

Other features of the building include inside parking facilities, a large auditorium with a telephone system connecting each seat—comparable to the set-up in the UN—a restaurant and kitchens and complete conference suites.

Beck had hoped to have the formal opening this Labor Day with President Eisenhower attending. But Ike is going to be out of town and the building won't be quite finished so they're going to have the ceremonies in October.

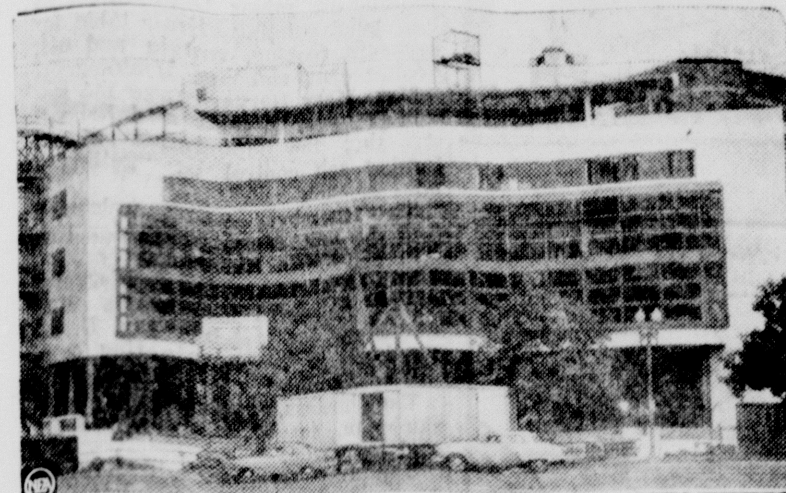

George Meany, President of the parent AFL, is getting himself a new headquarters across Lafayette Square from the White House. His suite will have a large balcony almost close enough for a good mashie shot at Ike's bedroom window. The building is next to the St. John's Episcopal Church.

The AFL headquarters will also have auditoriums and conference rooms, and office space for the other AFL affiliates which don't already have headquarters here.

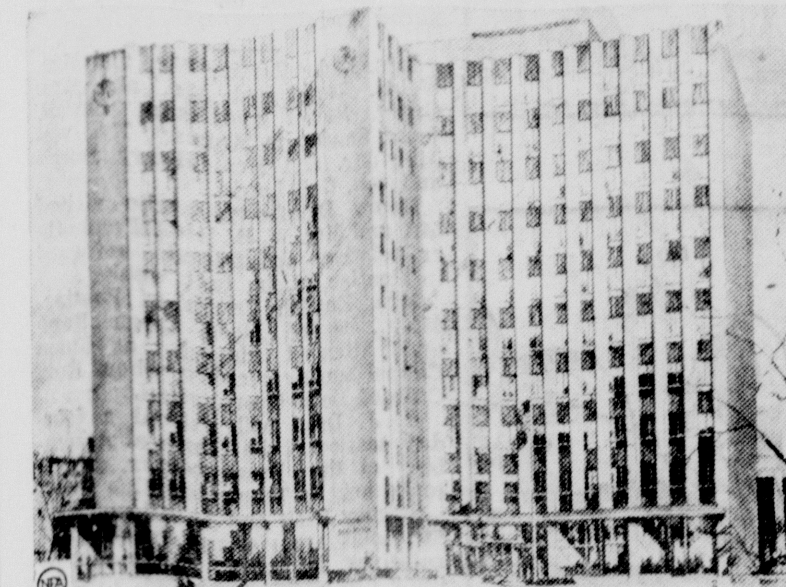

Five other large union organizations are either building new Washington headquarters, planning to move here soon, or buying new buildings to house their staffs. It all adds up to an estimated $15 million real estate investment.

AFL'S NEW HEADQUARTERS: Right next door to church.

FOR DAVE BECK'S TEAMSTERS: A window facing the Senate.

FOR THE MACHINISTS: A handsome $2½ million structure.

Some significance is attached to the fact that the Retail Clerks' International Association, AFL, has purchased a large new building right across the street from the popular Mayflower Hotel cocktail lounge. A lot of semi-official government and legislative business is said to be carried on in that hotel.

The retail clerks will be moving here from Lafayette, Ind., early in the fall.

Also overlooking the Capitol grounds is the recently-completed headquarters for the AFL Letter Carriers Union.

Down the street from the Mayflower Hotel on Connecticut Ave., the powerful International Association of Machinists is going to erect a handsome $2½ million structure to house its staff of 250 employees. It will rent part of this valuable space for offices and stores.

The International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers and the Milk Drivers Local Union 246 are two more unions planning headquarters here.

There are several unions, including the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, looking for possible headquarters sites here.

When this major shift of unions to Washington is complete it will bring close to 45 of them within the District of Columbia. Together they will represent an estimated 15,000,000 workers.

As an investment for its surplus funds the AFL Electrical Workers Union has built a huge, swank 565-

Moral for Those Who Report Early

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — It doesn't always pay to get to work ahead of time. It might even get you fired.

The foreman of the Fairmount Food Co. noticed one of the company's trucks missing. It had been loaded with $30,000 worth of butter.

After an alarm was sounded, police located the vehicle near the Onondaga Indian Reservation. The driver was in the truck, fast asleep. Police awakened and questioned him.

He didn't steal the truck, he said. He decided to get an early start on his trip but became sleepy on the way and pulled off to the side of the road.

The company decided not to press charges, but since the butter cargo had been exposed to spoilage, the driver was fired.

Euclid and Photography

Photography was discovered in 1839, almost simultaneously by Daguerre and Talbot, two men working independently of each other. Their work, however, was the culmination of research carried out for centuries, the theory being known to Euclid in 300 B. C.

Kissing in Public is Scored by Japanese

TOKYO — To kiss or not to kiss was the basis of a heated controversy in the letters-to-the-editor columns of some Tokyo newspapers, with American servicemen squarely in the middle of the battle.

The not-to-kiss adherents, on the whole, appeared to carry the most weight.

"The public display of amorous sentiments by American servicemen is the root of anti-Americanism in Japan," wrote one Japanese. "The sight of Americans embracing and kissing our girls provokes jealousy in our hearts. From this angle, I think kissing in public places should be condemned."

A person who signed himself "modern Japanese" disagreed.

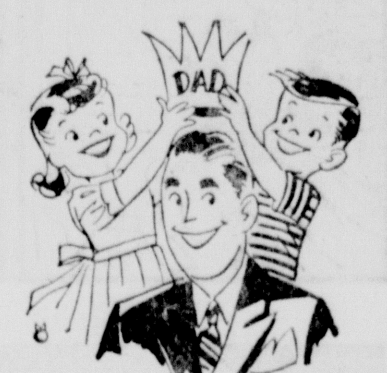

"I do not share the view that kissing is bad because I look at it as a form of affectionate salutation. I am in favor of popularizing the art of osculation."

But he was countered with another letter:

"I would not think highly of a Japanese girl involved in kissing incidents in public places."

The average person in the United States eats about 3.7 bushels of wheat in a year.

To Place Seismograph In Lake Michigan To Predict Tremors

NEW YORK UP — Seismologists who have found weather predictions in subterranean tremors will place a seismograph in Lake Michigan this week to find out if the weather predicting earth waves recorded in New York are caused by the lapping water waves of the Great Lakes.

The Rev. Joseph Lynch, Fordham university seismologist, said a heavily cased instrument will be placed about five feet under the surface of Lake Michigan at Loyola university, Chicago. Its readings will be correlated with those of underground seismographs in the eastern United States.
